Birthday Celebration

Postmaster Coates passes 82nd Milestone of Life.

A week ago Saturday an afternoon an informal reception was was given Postmaster Coates in honor of his 82nd birtheay. A very pleasant time was had by all present.

A number of Grand Army men from San Jose were present with their wives, as well as a good many people of Campbell. One of the features of the day was the raising of the flag upon the new flagpole which Mr. Coates had made and placed in front of his house. Songs were sung and an impromptu program of recitations and stories was rendered. Refreshments of cake and sherbert were served in the afternoon.

Mr. Coates was presented with

Mr, Coates was presented with an expression of appreciation from his many friends which we print here:-

To the Uncrowned Victor
of Fourscore and Two Years.

Uncrowned did we say? Nay, indeed. Crowned in the thoughts of all of us as Father, Grandfather, Husband, Neighbor, Veteran, and Friend. As such we greet thee with our love, affection and respect. And we all join in saying "Happy New Year, May you live to enjoy many more of them, with an unbroken circle of friends and loved ones."

"Anyone who has passed through the stearn years of the Civil War, serving his country with fidelity and courage; then with equal courage and determination takes up the burden of life during those dark and trying times, who through it all was a MAN in word and deed, and by the integrity of his character as Husband, Father, and as the years passed, as Grandfather, neighbor and true friend, lived well his life and helped others, and who now reaches the ripe young age of Four score years and Two, certainly merits our congradulations. May these Sun-Set years spent quietly on the Western slope of Life's Sea be filled to the full with restful brightness and peace of the evening's glow. May we who are younger remember the sacrifices and service of the past which makes possible our safety and the success of today, and do as our Fathers have done in their day of testing and "MAKE GOOD," even as they did.

"So we greet thee, Our Nestor, May you and your good wife be spared long each to the other. May your cheery smile, wise council, your helpfulness as friend and neighbor, your love and thoughtfulness as husband and father and grandfather, be ours for years to come. And we all unite tn appreciation of your splendid patriotism for your country, and may your Flag never be half-masted for you for many a year yet to come.

"Uncle Dan, we salute thee. God bless you."

Among those present were Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. Helen, Mrs. J. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Butts, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kellogg, Mr. I. Zion, Mr. J. W. Lewis, Mr. G. W. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Ward, Mr. Mills Church, Mrs. Judge Scott, Misses Olive, Agnes and Marion Scott, Mr. Richard Scott and Mrs. Ida Coates.

Messrs. Sebe rnd Harry Weeks, tiring of picking fruit, have hied themselves to Sacramento where they will work at carpentry on the S. P. carshops there.

Hay Market Report

MOVEMENT OF GRAIN DURING THE WEEK AS REPORTED FROM SAN FRANCISCO

THE receipts of hay on the San Francisco market during the week have amounted to 3800 tons. These large arrivals were about the same as we received the preceeding week. About 1400 tons were received last Monday, and in view of the weak condition of the market at that time, this heavy additional burden of nay practically demoralized the market. To effect sale and movement of much of this it became necessary to cut prices considerably, and the result was a most disturbed condition, which continued to prevail during the entire week. At the present writing the market is dull, slow and unsatisfactory.

There has been comparitively little hay changed hands in the country during the week, as all buyers are thoroughly adverse to making purchases under prevailing conditions, as the farmers' ideas in the country are much above the basis of the San Francisco market, and those who have purchased hay and are bringing it into San Francisco, are netting quite a loss on most consignments. Until these conditions adjust themselves fo a more satisfactory basis, no activity can be expected.

Occasionally an exceptionally fancy car of wheat hay has been sold at our top quotations, but the majority of all arrivals of wheat and oat hay have moved slowly under a moderate demand.

The large consumers of hay here in this city are adverse to making purchases to fill their barns at the prevailing figures; therefore the general trade has been dull and the demand for hay decidedly moderate. Many of the hay teams in the city are laid off and idle on account of this condition, and nothing better can be expected until the market adjusts itself.

The trade for hay for foreign shipments is very slim, as other markets have been able to supply hay for foreign trade at less figures than San Francisco could, and thereby have captured much of this desirable export business, This falling off of this especial trade is to be much regretted, as it has been for years an outlet for a certain surplus of California hay and a benefit to the general market throughout the entire state.

There is very little activity shown on Alfalfa hay. Comparitively a small amount has been arriving but there has been enough to supply the present current demand.

Not much straw has been received here during the week; and this artical is fairly steady at our quotations.

Scott and Magner, Hay and Grain Merchants in San Francisco, give us the following quotations:-

Choice Wheat Hay	$17.50 to 18.50
No. 1 Wheat	16.00 to 17.00

COAST EVENTS OF PAST WEEK TERSELY TOLD

Interesting News Items From States Bordering On the Broad Pacific.

Assemblage of Paragraphs That Present Important Occurrences in Condensed Form.

San Francisco.—The Western Pacific Railway company has placed an order in the East for 2250 freight cars, to be ready by September 1st when part of the line will be put in operation.

Sacramento.—The Southern Pacific is soon to spend $1,000,000 or more in constructing a new steel bridge across the Sacramento river. The bridge will span the river several hundred feet above the present wooden structure.

Seattle.—The campaign for woman suffrage in the state of Washington, upon which question the adult male citizens will vote in November, 1910, was begun last week, when suffrage arguments were made from the rear platform of the suffrage special of the Northern Pacific.

Sumter, Ore.—Given up for dead by his relatives and a tombstone erected above the grave where his body was thought to lie, Robert Roberts a husky miner, has turned up at this place. Roberts formerly was a Nevada prospector, and the grave that has been marked with his name is in the burial plot at Tonopah.

Seattle.—Franklin A. Buck, a California pioneer of 1849, died at his home in this city last week, aged 83 years. He went to San Francisco from Bucksport, Maine, with a schooner cargo of knockdown houses, sold them, became a grocer in Sacramento, and afterward mined in Trinity county, Cal., and in Nevada.

Sacramento.—Governor Gillett last week appointed W. H. McBean, State Dental Surgeon, an office that was created by the last Legislature. The following other appointments were made: Directors Yountville Veterans' Home, Henry C. Dibble, Hugh M. Burke, Samuel W. Backus, and W. H. Savage, director Preston School of Industry.

Los Angeles.—The Fourth of July fireworks season here cost Antonio Encinas, an eleven-year-old boy, one of his eyes. The lad was shooting Roman candles. The fuse of one apparently became extinguished. He looked into the barrel and instantly the charge exploded in his face, burning out one of his eyes and injuring the other seriously.

Fort Stevens, Or.—The Ninety-third Company of Coast Artillery, in full service practice with twelve-inch mortars, a few days ago fired fourteen shots in fifteen minutes, and so accurate was the firing that an almost perfect score was made. The shortness of time and the accuracy will, it is stated, probably place the company close to first place for this season's full-service practice.

Portland, Ore.—Walter Rassling, aged 11 years, son of a tailor, was killed when he was struck by an automobile driven by H. L. Keats, an automobile dealer. Young Rassling jumped out from behind an ice wagon directly in the path of the automobile and received injuries which resulted in his death at the hospital. Keats declared he could not possibly have avoided the accident.

Colusa.—Right-of-way agents are busy in the country between Hamilton City and Princeton, north of here, negotiating for free rights of way for the railway to be built by the Northern Electric Company, which already reaches Hamilton City by a line running west from Chico, and which has long intended building a connecting road from Yuba City to Hamilton City, a distance of sixty miles, via Meridian, Colusa and Princeton.

Sacramento.—State Controller A. B. Nye has issued a circular to banks, safe deposit companies and other financial corporations instructing them as to the State inheritance tax law. The circular sets forth the duties of banks with reference to the act. The communication also calls attention to the section by which severe penalty can be inflicted if the law is not lived up to. All searchers of titles are also being notified that an unpaid inheritance tax constitutes a lien on realty and the title cannot be guaranteed clear until the lien is wiped out.

BRITISH AUTOIST ENTHUSES OVER AMERICAN ENTERPRISE

Urges Car Manufacturers of His Own Country to Wake Up.

London.—Spencer F. Edge, the well known British motorist, has returned from America enthusiastic over the rapid development of motoring in that country.

"Nearly everybody in America is going in for some sort of car," he said, "and the fever has reached the remotest villages in the farming regions. American manufacturers of cars are close students of the demands of public conditions in the country. They are also ingenious, inventive and immensely enterprising. The finest cars made in America are equal to the finest made in the world, and the cheaper American cars are without equals in any other country. They give more value for their cost, weight and size than any other article of manufacture on wheels.

"Unless European manufacturers wake up to the importance of the cheap car market and produce cheaper cars and better ones, the Americans are going to sweep Europe with these machines, as they are now sweeping America."

STATE'S EXPENSES SHOW GREAT ANNUAL INCREASE

$1,300,000 is Yearly Sum According to Controller Nye.

Sacramento.—Expenses involved in conducting the affairs of the State are increasing at the rate of $1,300,000 annually, according to the report made by State Controller Nye of the expenditures during the last fiscal year, which ended June 30. The total expenditures for the year amounted to $16,841,666.11. This exceeds the total for the preceding year by $1,351,885.83 and the cost of running the State two years ago by $2,686,678.33.

In giving these figures to the public State Controller Nye explained that many new departments had been created, demanding the additional expense. This increase merely corresponds to the increase of population and financial resources throughout the State.

Beer Liked in "Dry" Missouri.

St. Louis.—Although more than eighty Missouri counties are dry and the Sunday closing laws are enforced vigorously, the month of June shows greater consumption of beer than any corresponding month since the creation of the office of beer inspector eight years ago. The report of State Beer Inspector Ernest Marshall was received with receipts of $43,663. Only $41,494 was taken in during June, 1904, the world's fair year. No June until now has equaled the receipts of that one. The wholesalers have done a big business in dry counties, many consumers buying beer by the barrel and whisky and wine by the case, where formerly they bought the drinks as they wanted them.

Saloon and Dance Hall Wrecked.

Endee, N. M.—The anti-saloon campaign came to a climax a few nights ago when a band of masked men, mounted and armed, rode through the doors of a saloon and after driving the customers into the street, "shot up" the bar until the mirrors and glassware were nothing but wreckage The raiders then crashed into a dance hall, and while some of the women fainted and others rushed screaming for the doors, the same programme of destruction was carried out. The dance hall and bar were wrecks before the raiders and their horses departed

Drinks and Smokes at 105.

New York.—Joshua Zeitlein, living in Brooklyn, celebrated his one hundred and fifth birthday on July 4. He is in good health and says he will live to be 120. Zeitlein does not attribute his longevity to abstaining from liquors and tobacco as many centenarians do, but on the contrary drinks half a pint of whisky daily and six glasses of beer and smokes a pipe regularly. He has one son 75 years old, and his youngest "boy" is 45 years old.

Banker Goes to Prison.

Seattle.—Ralph F. Parkhurst, former assistant cashier of the First National Bank, convicted of embezzlement of $50,000 from the bank, was sentenced to serve 10 years in a federal prison and to pay $2000 costs. Parkhurst, who had been with the bank more than 20 years, starting as a boy, squandered the stolen money on women.

State Fair at Oakland.

Oakland.—The last Legislature authorized the State Agricultural Society to hold a second State Fair at Oakland. The fair will be held at Idora Park from September 18 to October 2. Premiums aggregating $3000 will be offered.

Law's Grip at Last Clutches Millionaire Bradbury

San Francisco.—William B. Bradbury, the eccentric millionaire, must serve a year in San Quentin. The Supreme Court rendered a decision in which it sustained the verdict of the Superior Court and upset the ruling of the District Court of Appeal, which had held that Bradbury was entitled to a new trial.

The opinion of the Supreme Court disposes of the famous edict of the Appellate Court, expressed by Justice Kerrigan, that an individual could not "tell a bank." Because the word 'tell" was used where the court believed the word "notify" should have been employed, it undertook to nullify the conviction.

Bradbury, who owns large property interests in Marin county and San Francisco, was found guilty of perjury in San Rafael more than a year ago. He held a trust deep to property owned by James F. McCue, to whom he had advanced $1000. McCue sought to raise the necessary money to repay Bradbury, but, preferring the property, Bradbury asked the officials of the Marin county bank not to give McCue the money. On the witness stand Bradbury swore that he had not "told the Marin county bank" not to assist McCue. On this point the Supreme Court says:

"While in its more general use, the verb 'to tell' does import oral communication, yet by well accepted usage it may be employed where the communication is by writing. 'Tell: to recount orally or in writing' (Standard dictionary. Moreover, it is a common practice to address a corporation by its name and not by direct reference to any particular officer of it.

"It was shown that the defendant made this request of Mr. Cheda, the then president, and Mr. Hanson, the then teller of the Marin county bank. This evidence was clearly sufficient to support the charge that the defendant told the bank."

Bradbury's reputation as a frequenter of the courts was established long before he became involved in controversy with J. S. McCue of Marin county. It arose from his disregard of municipal ordinances. When the anti-spitting laws were first placarded in street cars and public buildings, Bradbury signified his disapproval by indiscriminate and extensive expectoration. He was arrested and fined, but not weaned from his favorite diversion. So he was arrested again and again.

Shortly after the disaster of 1906 Bradbury tried to corner the grocery market at Corte Madera, and it is said he narrowly escaped being lynched as a result of his business acumen. He owns, besides his big country home at Corte Medera, the Bradbury Hotel, at Polk and California streets, and a large block of property on Van Ness avenue, at California street in this city.

State University is Striving to Make Better Farmers

Berkeley.—Announcement has been made of the grand opening of the second year of the School of Agriculture of the State Farm at Davis, which is to occur September 20th at the farm. The announcement was made by Professor E. J. Wickson, head of the department of agriculture in the University of California and director of the State experiment stations. It includes not only the programme for the occasion, but the course of study, a description of the equipment of the farm and dormitories, and an outline of the work.

Arthur M. Cleghorn has just been appointed principal of the school, and has mapped out the work for the coming year on a comprehensive scale. The school of agriculture is a new departure for the University of California. It is a school in practical farming, planned for boys who have graduated from a grammar school. It aims, by a thorough instruction given at this plastic age to students resident on the farm, to raise the standard of agriculture in this State to the highest possible efficiency.

The school is for boys wishing to be farmers, but the ends of general culture are not neglected in its scope. The courses given include for the first year botany and plant propagation, live-stock judging, agriculture, entomology, poultry, farm practice, arithmetic and algebra, English Second year, chemistry, horticulture and viticulture, animal industry, dairy industry, farm accounts, mathematics, English. Third year, soil fertility and farm crops, farm mechanics, irrigation, animal physiology, a free elective, mathematics, history and civics.

The school of agriculture, the first of its kind in the West, was opened for regular students last January, and already it has won standing with the farmers of the State. More than half the work is actually laboratory or field work, and the practical side of the school is strongly emphasized.

University Urges Use of Only Registered Fertilizers

Berkeley.—In a bulletin issued from the department of agriculture of the university, Prof. John S. Burd, in charge of the fertilizer control laboratory, urges that all brands of fertilizers be registered for the protection of the farmers of the States.

The problem of fertilizer control of the future, he said, is in regard to manufacturers who are allowed by law to import fertilizers into the State without registration. He said:

"The whole matter of the importation of unregistered goods is worthy of the earnest consideration of all fertilizer consumers. It is believed that the tendency of such importations is to break down the necessary restrictions insuring high standards in the quality of fertilizers. To appreciate this properly it should be understood that this department depends for results not so much upon its limited and inadequate powers of prosecution as upon the publication of the comparative analyses and guaranties. If large quantities of unregistered fertilizers continue to be imported directly by consumers it may soon prove difficult to convince local manufacturers of the value of a good showing for their various brands."

Professor Burd pays a high compliment to the citrus fruit association in their co-operation with the authorities in charge of the administration of the fertilizer control act.

In conclusion the bulletin publishes a list of the registered fertilizer manufacturers and urges that care shall be taken by the consumer in the purchase of fertilizer.

Internecine Warfare Brings Suffragists to Tears

Seattle.—The State convention of the Washington Woman Suffrage Association was marked by scenes of the utmost confusion and almost violence. A faction of about 50, led by Mrs. Mary Arkwright Hutton of Spokane, sought to oust the present State officers, headed by President Emma Smith Devoe, whose supporters numbered about 200.

The report of the committee of credentials declared the Spokane delegates not entitled to seats. In the debate on the report some of the delegates called others "thieves," "liars," and "scoundrels," and there was hysterical weeping and screaming.

Both sides agreed upon ousting the newspaper reporters, one of whom telephoned to police headquarters that a riot was in progress in Plymouth church. A squad of bluecoats soon entered the hall and found the convention in tears.

The report of the credentials committee was adopted, and Mrs. Hutton was followed out by all her adherents. Then the regulars re-elected President Devoe and chose other officers indorsed by her.

Fire Destroys Block of Stores.

San Francisco.—Fire, starting in a skating rink on Mission street, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth, destroyed nearly a whole block of stores. The loss is estimated at $200,000.

Life and Property Lost in Storm.

Brownsville, Tex.—As the result of a storm that swept this section of Texas, Tarpon beach, at the lower end of Padre island, is in ruins. Several lives have been lost.

SOCIALIST COLONY WRECKED ON ROCKS OF DISSENSION

Free Love and Anarchy End Joes Bay Company After Twenty Years.

Tacoma.—The communistic or anarcistic colony at Joes bay, after a life of twenty years, is a thing of the past. The entire 217 acres comprising the farm colony, has been platted and will be sold. The colony appeared unable to pass a certain milestone of progress, and the same was true in the matter of the expansion of membership and property. This was due in part to the constantly changing membership. There was nothing to hold any one after he grew tired of life at the colony, the fundamental principle being inviolability of individual choice.

The principles believed in by the colonists were multiform. Many advocated and practiced the doctrine of non-resistance. Others believed in the "strong arm and the knockout." Free love was practiced, according to reports, and during a number of years of the colony's existence the marriage tie was disregarded. Many men and women lived together by mutual consent and separated when one or both tired of the other. In a conscience stricken spasm a boatload of these one day came here and were married. In matters of religion there "was a confusion of tongues," many being out and out infidels and others admitting a Diety.

COMMERCE COMMISSIONERS MAY VISIT STATE YEARLY

Would Then Be Able to Give More Attention to Shippers' Complaints.

Washington.—Interstate Commerce Commissioner Franklin K. Lane left last week for England, where he will make a study of the question of terminal charges in connection with the question raised in the San Francisco and Los Angeles switching charges cases. He will also look into the matter of handling the demurrage question and will learn if any expeditious methods have been devised of conducting hearings.

Commissioner Lane believes the entire commission will be in California in September and October, and he will endeavor to have the commission visit the coast every year for the convenience of the public in presenting cases. He will also propose that an examiner be permanently located on the coast so that he can hear cases there.

Dawson Makes Potato Record.

Tacoma, Wash.—A Dawson special says that Dawson-grown potatoes are working up a foreign as well as home market. Ten tons were exported to Fairbanks on one of the first steamers of the year, and another lot was shipped last week. The Fairbanks market ran low on potatoes during the last of the winter, and the merchants there sent to Dawson for relief. Potatoes grown near Dawson are improving in quality every year and the yield is increasing. The coast-grown article is rapidly being crowded out, and some predict that within a few years the Klondike will grow all the potatoes it will consume. The Dawson potatoes shipped this week to Fairbanks brought the wholesale price of 6 cents a pound.

Pitcher Fans Out Twenty-Six.

Auburn.—Pitcher Meikle of Forest Hill struck out twenty-six Michigan Bluff batsmen in a game at that place recently. Not a hit was secured off Meikle's delivery, and in the entire nine innings only twenty-nine men faced him. Not a man walked and not a man was hit by a pitched ball. Two reached first base on errors and not a runner reached second. Forest Hill won the game by a score of 6 to 0.

Forming International Federation.

Spokane.—A movement which may develop worldwide significance is being started among the 15,000 Scandinavians of Spokane. Its purpose is to promote a league or federation embracing the governments of Denmark, Norway and Sweden to preserve the interests of these nations against the encroachments of more powerful neighbors.

Loss of Money Causes Suicide.

Sacramento. — Losses from two floods, a fire and recent robbery of $300, caused P. Parenti, an Italian farmer of Twitchell island, on the lower Sacramento river, to commit suicide by shooting himself in the head. He called his wife to him, and fired the shot as she entered the room.

Locomotive Spark Starts Fire.

Spokane.—The Washington Monumental Works, on Walnut street, was destroyed by fire several days ago. The loss is estimated at $30,000. The fire was started by a spark from a Northern Pacific engine.

Philadelphia.—The entire estate, amounting to about $1,500,000, of Harry S. Colorado Springs, Colo.—Wilton Ooley, janitor of the Mining Exchange building, had his left arm terribly lacerated by the accidental explosion of an eight inch Hotchkiss shell, a relic of the Spanish-American war. The explosion was caused by hitting the shell while he was cleaning the room where it was kept Considerable damage was done to the building by the explosion.

Kiel.—The striking street cleaners of Kiel poured petroleum over street cleaning material stored in warehouses and set the mass on fire. Flames burst out so suddenly that a watchman within the building could not escape and was burned to death. Emperor William observed the fire from on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern and ordered that a report be made.

Washington.—An increase of 344 in the total of railroad casualties, but a decrease of sixty-five in the total of persons killed, as compared with the figures for the corresponding quarter last year, is shown for the months of January, February and March, 1906, by accident bulletin No. 31, issued last week by the Interstate Commerce Commission. During the months named 663 persons were killed and 122 were injured.

HOW WOMEN GET RICH.

It is a curious fact that every year hundreds of ladies are entering the profitable profession of manicuring, and with only a fortnight's instruction are working up businesses which pay well right from the start. There is not a town in the United States of five hundred inhabitants or more, where a manicurist is not needed, and thousands of women from these small towns are also finding places in the big cities where a few hours easy work a day yields a splendid income. There is an institution on the Pacific Coast where any woman more than eighteen years of age can have the necessary instruction, and the professional manicuring outfit furnished by mail with no money in advance; it is the California Institute of Beauty Culture, 830A Market street, San Francisco, Cal.

RAILROAD MEN VISIT THE YUKON-PACIFIC EXPOSITION

Passenger Agents of Southern Pacific View the Wonders at Seattle.

Twenty Southern Pacific passenger agents from all parts of the Pacific system visited the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition and were unanimous in their praises of all that they saw. It's a wonder, unique among all similar expositions. The purpose of the trip is to arouse the enthusiasm of the various agents in the Exposition so that they can return and discuss it with proper spirit of promotion. The party, which will be conducted by Charles S. Fee, passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific, includes the following representatives of the company:

James Horsburgh, general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific; H. A. Jones, freight traffic manager; William McMurray, general passenger agent of the Oregon lines; T. A. Graham, assistant freight agent at Los Angeles; C. M. Burkhalter, district freight and passenger agent at Los Angeles; N. R. Martin, district passenger agent at Los Angeles; C. M. Knox, commercial agent at Riverside; L. Richardson, commercial agent at Santa Barbara; Warren F. Holton, city passenger agent at Oakland; J. C. Stone, district freight and passenger agent at Sacramento: James O'Gara, depot ticket agent at Sacramento; J. D. Fish, agent at Stockton; E. W. Clapp, district freight and passenger agent at Reno; A. S. Mann, district passenger agent at San Francisco; E. Shillenburg, district freight and passenger agent at San Jose; Charles D. Aiken, editor of Sunset Magazine, San Francisco; C. W. Durbrow, assistant general attorney, San Francisco; A. G. D. Kerrell, general passenger agent of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company; Phil K. Gordon, Pacific Coast agent of the Washington Sunset Route, and C. Lincoln, district superintendent of the Pullman Company.

This Exposition tells a big story to people of all this nation, a true story of what there is to be found to-day in Alaska and the great Northwest. Every building ready on opening day, June 1st, and flags flying and bands playing, just as they will continue until closing October 15th. The Exposition as it stands represents an investment of about ten million dollars. The Forestry building, made of monster timber from forests of Washington, is the most remarkable of all the buildings, while the Alaska exhibit tells in detail of the country that has yielded two hundred and ninety-six million dollars worth of products in the past thirty years. The buildings and grounds are remarkably well arranged, so that one can get about easily without weariness, and all details are most artistic in conception.

A FIGHTING WHALE.

Among the tales of the whale fishery, told by John R. Spears in "The Story of the New England Whalers," is that of the loss of the Ann Alexander of New Bedford. This ship was on the "Offshore Grounds," west of Chile and Peru, when on August 20, 1850, a "pod" of whales appeared, and three boats were lowered, Capt. John S. Deblois going in one of them. The mate's boat soon struck one of the "pod," but the monster instantly turned with jaws open, and the men fled overboard just in time to save their lives. A moment later the whale bit the boat to pieces.

Captain Deblois at once pulled in, picked up the boat's crew, and shifted a part of them to the second mate's boat. Then both the captain and second mate started to attack the whale, which had been busy meantime biting at the pieces of the boat it had destroyed. In the usual course, a whale thus engaged would not have noticed the approach of the boats for a second attack; but this one had its eyes open, and it turned to meet the enemy more than half-way.

Rushing forward with a force and speed that no boat could escape, it grasped the second mate's boat, as it had that of the mate, and literally made kindling wood of it.

When Captain Deblois had once more picked his men from the sea, he headed for the ship, and when there he sent the mate to gather up the oars and such other debris as might have escaped the fury of the whale. In his view, it was his duty to fill his ship with oil, and not to "whale for glory," as persistence in fighting a whale of this kind was sometimes called.

The mate, however, was of more reckless disposition. He managed to get within range of the whale and thrust a lance into it. Unfortunately, however, he failed to reach a vital point, and the whale, ignoring the small boat, made a dash at the ship. He struck her abreast of the foremast, and crushed in her side. She sank so quickly that the crew were unable to secure anything, and they would have perished speedily in their open boats but for the fact that they were picked up by another whale-ship.

Scorned Cheap Umbrella.

It was raining as it has before in the spring, and the man who had hurried into a shop which deals in garments and contrivances for inclement weather had asked for a 98-cent umbrella, says the Providence Tribune.

"I want a cheap umbrella," he said. "I'm through carrying expensive umbrellas for the benefit of unscrupulous people."

"All right," replied the salesman, cheerfully, "but a 98-cent umbrella isn't cheap; you want to bear that in mind, my friend. It isn't cheap if you lose it or have it stolen the first crack out of the box; a 10-cent umbrella wouldn't be cheap if you were that careless with it and it isn't cheap if you don't lose it. Why?

"Because it's no good. It isn't made to last and it'll torment you half to death. The catch that keeps it shut comes off; the ribs break or bend so that it'll give you an argument every time you try to open it; it'll leak the third or fourth time you carry it and the handle comes loose. It's a shabby affair."

"I guess you're right," said the man thoughtfully. "I never had much luck with cheap umbrellas. Gimme me one of those $1.12 umbrellas."

OUR ANNIVERSARY

FOR fourteen years the "INTERURBAN PRESS" has been on deck, though not all of that time under its present name. It has had its ups and downs during that time and is having them yet. It probably always will have them.

During the past year the paper has changed from the ownership of E. C. Hurlbert to M. Earle Adams. We are satisfied with our work and want to continue. During the next year we hope to make the "PRESS" larger and better in every way, and in order to do this we need your co-operation. Will you help us help you?

THE CRANK

THERE are men everywhere who make it a practice, indeed it becomes a habit, to criticize everybody and everything that is done, whether good or bad. They will criticize a man who does a good act, saying he ought to do better, and they loudly howl if a man does something they do not like.

One of the causes of lack of co-operation in any field of life is this class of people, the crank. Wherever he is, there is disatisfaction. At a public meeting he gets up and kneeks a good proposition by enlarging its faults and leaving its good qualities unnoticed,

Our advice to the crank is to either reform or keep quiet. A good example of what cranks will do is shown in the recent disincorporation agitation in East San Jose. Most of the people who are fighting the present administration, or the ringleaders at least are cranks. They would not be satisfied if the disincorporationists had won the election held there this week.

When a person feels that he wants to kick things he had better kick himself.

THE Mayfield Republican is becoming quite a nice paper. Say! Who the deuce owns it, anyhow, Woodruff or Ostermeyer?

Paul's Second Missionary Journey—The Philippian Jailer. Acts xvi:16-40.

Golden Text—Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved. Acts xvi:31.

Verses 16-21—In what class do you place those who profit by the sins of fallen women?

This young woman was possessed with a very clever spirit of evil, an all round spirit of deception, including fortune telling; now wherein did her sin consist, and that of her owners?

Which are the more to be blamed in these days, fortune tellers or their willing dupes?

When bad men are losing the gains of their evil occupation, are they apt to be careful of the truth, when they are after the good men who have destroyed their business? For example the liquor dealers.

Verse 22—What made the multitude so angry at Paul and Silas, and is any reliance ever to be placed upon the excited attitude of a large crowd?

Do religious differences still make the people hate one another?

Does worldly gain, to-day play any part in religious intolerance?

Verse 23—Why did God permit such cruelty to his faithful servants?

Why is it that godly people often have to go through very exquisite suffering?

Verse 24—Say why it is possible for any good man in prison, lying upon a raw back, with his feet fast in the stocks, to be as happy as a man in health and at liberty?

Does a good man's influence cease when he is imprisoned and his limbs are fettered?

In looking back over the results of his imprisonment, would Paul and Silas be apt to regret this painful incident?

Verse 25—Is there any circumstance so painful, or disastrous, that prayer and praise cannot turn it into joy and victory?

If we prayed and sang more in our private lives, and in our families, would we have more joy and gladness?

Verse 26—Was this earthquake the result of the prayer of Paul and Silas, or was it a natural event?

Does God to-day work out for his people, practically the same results as are here recorded?

Verses 27-28—Why did the jailer decide upon suicide, and is such a course ever justifiable?

Verses 29-30—Was it natural fear or religious conviction, that now operated in the jailer?

What did the jailer desire to be saved from?

Verse 31—What precisely did they mean by believing on the Lord Jesus?

May a father or mother believe in Jesus, so as to assure the salvation of their children? (This question is to be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Verse 32—What is "the word of the Lord," and may a person know that word, first hand, who is not personally acquainted with the Lord?

Verses 33-34—Can the grace of God suddenly turn a cruel and brutal man, into a tender-hearted Christian?

Verses 35-40—May we be confident that there will always be a happy ending to all our trials?
